Caesar (Latin: ['kaɛ.sar] English pl. Caesars; Latin pl. Caesares; in Greek: Καῖσαρ Kaisar) is a title of imperial character. It derives from the cognomen of Julius Caesar, the Roman dictator. The change from being a familial name to a title adopted by the Roman emperors can be traced to AD 68, following the fall of the Julio-Claudian dynasty

This NFL season, Caesars Sportsbook Kansas will be offering unique prop-style bets by position as part of the Emperor's Pick promo. Each week during the season, they'll set lines on the marquee QBs, WRs and RBs, and you can pick who you think will lead their respective position group in total yards that Sunday and Monday. Keep an eye out for the latest Emperor's Pick lines and odds.

These kinds of parlay bonuses often look like profit boosts, where Caesars will provide special offers where if you place a parlay bet on a certain sport, like tennis or basketball, and the bet wins, then Caesars will boost the profit of your bet by anywhere from 5%-70%. This is a fun and exciting way that bettors who regularly use the Caesars Kansas betting app or site can benefit from special single-day offers, keeping the playing experience lively and rewarding.

If a new user places a first wager of $100 and loses, Caesars Sportsbook will refund them with $100 in free bets. Similarly, if a new user places a first wager of $100 and wins, Caesars Sportsbooks will also refund them with $100 in free bets. You can bet up to $1,001 to take advantage of the full match.

When betting a point spread, the wager is decided by the total number of points, goals or runs a team wins or loses by. The Royals may be -1.5 in a game against the Chicago Cubs, meaning you would need them to win by 2 or more runs for your bet to win. The Kansas State Wildcats could be +3.5 in an NCAA football game, meaning if they lose by 3 points or less, or win the game, your bet wins.

You can use the Caesars Sportsbook Kansas promo code to bet on the NFL or any other sport. Interestingly enough, the brand works closely with the likes of Peyton Manning and Eli Manning, however, and now that the NFL season is officially underway, you can expect to see plenty of promotions and competitive odds specific to the Kansas City Chiefs and other NFL teams.

Moneyline bets are the most basic wager in all of sports betting. Simply put you're betting on Team A or Team B to win the game. If you're betting on a favorite, they will have a minus sign in front of the odds, giving you less money back for your wager than an underdog, which will have a plus sign attached to the number.

People tend to have good things to say about Caesars software, and for good reason. Caesars Sportsbook uses its own betting platform. This is unique in that many other operators lease software from a larger company, like Kambi, and place their own skin on it. PointsBet Kansas is another operator that uses their own proprietary software. The benefits of proprietary software are many. You can expect fast loading times, little to no downtimes and unique features.

You'll have to make a bet with money you deposit, and if your first bet loses, you'll be refunded with a free bet depending on how much you wagered, up to $1,250. For example, if you wager $200 and lose, you'll be refunded with a $200 free bet. If you wager $1,250 or more, you will be refunded with a maximum of a $1,250 free bet.

The final two Division I schools in the state are Detroit Mercy and Oakland. The two play in the Horizon League, and neither has a football team. The Titans and Golden Eagles do have men's basketball squads that you're able to bet on, however.

The app for Caesars Sportsbook in Kansas does naturally have a couple of drawbacks. As with any app, some users will likely find frustrations with battery life uses, lagging speeds due to poor internet connections, or the simple fact that adapting the interface to a smaller screen can be a challenge - especially for anyone with larger fingers. There are also potential delays that have been reported getting verified, depositing, or withdrawing, but those are likely individual problems more than systemic problems with the app. The main drawbacks that we noted are listed here:
