Most online casinos today have a massive selection of casino games. Some even have over 1,000 games. Most games the casinos offer are slots, baccarat, blackjack, roulette, Vegas-style poker games. One of the latest trends to fund casino accounts for playing casino games online is via the use of Bitcoin (BTC).

It is just a case of developing games whereby players can gamble using Bitcoins for online casinos. This helps the online casino decrease the risk of fluctuation in value. For example, if an online casino takes a Bitcoin and exchanges it into Currency such as US$ or GB£, the casino takes all the risk with the Bitcoin because it is such a volatile currency.

Testing customer support is something we take very seriously. We have devised lists of processes that outline how we should test the customer support of an online casino we are reviewing. These tests include asking questions that require a human response and not an automated one. We also ask for information, ask about banking, test the customer support regarding games.

Online slots are the most popular category of games in all bitcoin online casinos. The goal of the game is a winning combination of symbols for one rotation of the drum. The gameplay of online slots in casinos that accepts BTC is no different from slot machines on other sites. In every good casino with bitcoin payment system you can find hundreds of varieties of slot machines. All of them will differ in RTP, bonuses, the number of paylines and reels. In addition, modern slot machines are made in the most unusual styles. In a Bitcoin casino, you can even play slot machines with a progressive jackpot. All bets are placed in BTC or converted into US dollars.

No. At the moment, only a select group of crypto casinos accept crypto as a payment method. We expect that more bitcoin casino site platforms will emerge in the coming years.

Online casino that actually pays

The online casinos may have been reluctant in the past to take Bitcoin mainly because of the Currency's high volatility. Swings of 20-40%+ in any given day or week have meant the Currency has not been stable pre-2017. On the other hand, Bitcoin has been showing incredible resilience, seemingly rising in value, taking vast dips in value and then climbing back up above its peak the very next day or week.

After the above advantages of Bitcoin online casinos, it seems that there is nothing to say about the shortcomings. This is partly true. The disadvantages of this payment system are very few and all of them are not significant.
