Craps is far and away the most exciting casino game around. With its fast-paced action and numerous bets, it's the perfect blend of adventure and risk. The goal of Craps is simple: Bet on the numbers that you think a pair of dice will roll. That's it! Upon first glance, the traditional Craps layout can look daunting.

The basic structure of craps breaks down as follows: The game starts by making a pass line bet. The shooter rolls the come out roll. A 7 or 11 (natural roll) is an instant win for pass bettors, and a 2, 3, or 12 (craps) is an instant loss. Any other number becomes the point, and the shooter rolls again.

To recap, here are the basic rules for playing craps games in online casinos: You can alternatively place a don't pass bet which is essentially the exact opposite. You win if the come-out roll results in a 2, 3, or 12 and lose if the result is 7 or 11. During the point phase, you win if a 7 is rolled before the point is achieved.

We will begin with four easy steps to get you started playing Craps either online or in the casino. The Easy Way to Play Craps 1. Player makes the Pass Line Bet. The Dealer chip is set to 'OFF' to show that the Come Out Roll has not yet taken place. Player moves their chip (s) to the Pass section of the board to make a 'Pass' bet. 2.

Your first roll determines the Come Out roll: If it's 7 or 11, the bets placed on the pass line win. If it is 2, 3, or 12, then the win goes to the Don't Pass line. Other rolls (4, 5, 6, 8, 9, or 10) become a Come Point. You will win this round if you roll the Come Point again before throwing a 7.

Craps starts with players making a bet on the first roll of the dice – known as the "Come Out roll." During this round, players must decide whether the dice total results in a 7 or 11 (Pass bet) or a 2, 3, or 12 (Don't Pass bet.) The round will end if the total dice value is equal to 7 or 11 (referred to as a "natural") or 2, 3, or 12 (also called "craps.") However, if the shooter rolls a 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, or 10, then that number becomes the "point" and will start the next stage of the game.
