In this version, we've implemented updates to improve your overall experience. Enjoy!

I downloaded this because of the Trisha Paytas slot machine. I have played others for years and there isn't anything particularly better or worse than this app compared to others so I'm not sure why others seem to not like it. Buying coins is optional (and unnecessary since you get more every hour and/or can watch ads), how much you bet is optional, which game to play is optional... not too sure why others don't enjoy it ::shrug:: I have mine linked to Facebook just so I don't potentially lose any progress, especially if there's an update or if using on a different device BUT if I win big or something else that "requires" a post, I just clicked the X to close it so it doesn't actually post. You still get the rewards you were getting without clogging the news feed or any of the other negative affects of posting to Facebook. I can't stand those either. Hopefully that helps someone who might otherwise not link them or think you have to post it. I don't let it automatically do it for me for that reason too.

Apps casino iphone

I'm reading all the negative reviews and wondering if I'm playing the same game(s) as they are. The most frustrating thing to me is to get with an offer of, let's just say for the sake of this review, 100,000 coins for "watching this video". I would almost rather see an add for soap than to have to sit through an ad for another app and then have to download that app to get the coins. Also, if you don't link your Facebook account with the app you miss out on a lot of good offers, free coins, and advancement. I'm not going to link my Facebook account. I don't want to be that person who clogs up the newsfeed with "Johnny just won 1000 coins in the alligator swamp" over and over again. I don't want to be that person who invites their friend list to play. People hate that! I suppose I could set up a fake FB account and use it....other than that I LOVE these games. I wish the slots in Tunica were as loose as these. Last night I won 3 slot tournaments in a row. I did notice something kind of fishy though. I had gotten down to 100 credits. I'd been playing for 2 weeks without purchasing any coins, so I decided to go ahead and spend $2.99 for a million coins. As soon as I got credit for those coins the games loosened up drastically! I was hitting jackpot after jackpot. If you're looking for something to pass the time then I feel like this choice of games are better than most.

Hi Susie. Thanks for your feedback! It looks like you're at least partially satisfied with our game. Well, we'd love to know what more we could do to let you enjoy the game even more! Please feel free to contact us through service@me2zen.com. We'll do our best to earn your satisfaction.

Wish you good luck. :-)

I do enjoy playing. I find if I try other games all I do is lose. When you bet twelve million credits and get eight hundred thousand credits back. Not fun. I do realize the odds are against me. Lately in the middle of my game I lose the connection and have to reboot. July 5 I have been playing the new game for the Fourth of July. Every time I get the bonus I lose the game and have to put the game back in. When I do that I feel it looks at me as a new player. I get very disappointed at the bonus. I'm betting ten million credits and the pay off isn't good. I do have a tendency to stick with one game and not jump around. I'll try what you suggested. I get comfortable with just one game. Thanks for listening.

Hi player, thank you for your feedback. Slots are all about chance, which means the possibility for you to win is always the same. It does depend on luck. It is always a good idea to try your luck in different machines throughout the day to see where you are the luckiest. May the luck be with you.

It may also take a bit of time getting used to playing on a much smaller screen, especially if you are used to playing at a casino site and viewing the action from a much larger screen. The only other real downside at the moment is that iPhone mobile casinos contain far fewer games compared to the desktop version of the same casino. However, new casino games for iPhone are constantly being developed for mobile, so it shouldn't be long before the numbers even out a little.

We all love our mobiles. However, Casino operators don't always cater fully to those who want to play real money games on the go. Herein lies the dilemma when deciding which mobile casino to play at. Some have created excellent, easy-to-use and attractive mobile casinos with hundreds of games. Some still have a long way to go to meet our demands. This article will show you what makes a good casino app, and more importantly, where you can find it.

Casino iphone apps

The differences between casino apps can easily be seen in this table. Whilst this table shows some of the important criteria for judging a casino app, such as the number of games and operating system compatibility, this only begins to cover the subject.

It's also good to remember that you can get bonuses while playing on mobile as well. Head to our best casino bonuses overview to find out more. Read on to find out what other key factors need to be taken into consideration when looking for the best mobile casino.

Apps iphone casino

Clearly, the number of games is the main consideration when rating a casino app, but there are other factors that are also of importance. You also need to consider the usability of the app – is navigation easy and intuitive and does it flow seamlessly?

As you have already seen, there are distinct differences in the number of games offered across my 10 highlighted casinos. In this table, you can also see the distribution of these games. Slots make up the bulk of all the mobile libraries.

Iphone casino apps

If you are the type of player who prefers roulette, blackjack, or other casino games such as poker and scratch cards, the choice on offer varies considerably between the various operators. As for live games, some operators provide the full choice of games found on the desktop version, although there may be fewer tables available to choose from.

Generally speaking, compared to the game selection offered by most casinos, you only find a fraction of them available for mobile devices. Even Mr Green, with its huge number of games, still offers over a hundred fewer games on its mobile app compared to the desktop version. Yet it has made a good effort to include a variety of games and live dealer games too.

Casino iphone apps

Some casinos, like InterCasino, are sadly lacking in terms of the overall game offer and the diversity of the collection. If sheer volume is something that is important to you, then it's best to check the game numbers before you sign up on your favorite device type.

The major challenge faced by operators in the development of mobile apps was adapting games and functions to work on considerably smaller screens. No corners have been cut by the software developers, with layouts simplified and optimized for mobile devices.

Iphone apps casino

Games are often clearly displayed and accessed with a single touch. As for the actual games, only the essential elements are included, like the spin button on slots. You will usually find all the other elements, like the pay tables and rules accessed through a separate setting. In this video, you can see the layout of a selection of mobile casinos from various software providers.

Overall, there are no major differences between the mobile casinos I tested in terms of functionality and usability. Each operator provides a simple and clear layout, with easy access to games.

Iphone casino apps

Native apps are more complex to develop than a mobile responsive website, and as such, not all operators will offer this option. It's also worth noting that to download a native app for an iPhone or iPad, it can be found in the iTunes store, just like any other application you would download.

However, things differ for Android. The Google Play store only recently began accepting real money gambling apps and, therefore, you will find fewer native apps for download for Android. When a native Android app has been developed, users may need to install it directly from the casino website.

Iphone apps casino

A great number of online casinos allow games to be played for free in play money mode. The same is true for mobile casinos. The approach to this varies between operators.

Take, for example, Mr Green. If you are not logged in when you launch a game, you are instantly given the option to either play for free or to log in and play for real money. If you are already logged in, when you launch a game, you will find the option to switch to play money within the game settings.

Casino iphone apps

If you want to try out the games on the InterCasino mobile app for free, however, you will need to log out in order to find this option. There are some operators who do not allow their games to be played for fun on mobiles, but this is usually the exception, rather than the rule.

Special bonuses specifically for phones and tablets are few and far between. However, the good news is that the majority of welcome bonuses can be used to play mobile games. Once registered, you can make your first deposit on your mobile device and benefit from the extra bonus money.

Casino iphone apps

Although bonuses for mobile games are a rarity, there are some operators who provide mobile promotions, specifically rewarding those who play on the go. One example is 32Red. There are weekly promos where any players who have placed a real-money bet on a mobile game are entered into a prize draw to win bonus chips.

Usually, one of the first questions a user will ask is whether an app is compatible with their device. As you've already seen, native, downloadable apps are developed specifically for a given operating system. So they are only compatible with certain devices.

Iphone casino apps

In the table below, you can see the minimum specifications needed for each operating system for all 10 operators.

You will generally find that a web app and the downloadable native app, where it exists will have the same operating requirements. As you can see from this table, casino apps will work on devices with most recent operating systems, be it iOS or Android.

Iphone casino apps

There are very few operators who support Blackberry and Windows devices. You might have better luck checking the new casino sites' apps, though – these operators grew up in the mobile era, so to speak, so the approach to gaming with a handheld device tends to be more inclusive.

As already mentioned, there are fewer native casino apps available for download for Android than there are for iOS. Whereas iOS users will get the app from App Store, real money casino apps cannot always be found in the Google Play Store. This is largely because real money gambling apps were banned on Google Play until July 2017.

The casino apps are slowly making their way over, but there are still some operators who provide an Android app for download directly on their websites.

Prior to downloading apps in this way, a few adjustments will need to be made to the mobile device security settings. By selecting to allow installation from “unknown sources”, apps which are not listed in the Google Play Store can be downloaded.

For security reasons, it is recommended to select “only once” when opting to allow downloads from unknown sources. If this option does not exist, then ensure that you disable the option after downloading the app from the casino website. This will protect you from accidentally allowing downloads of untrusted apps in future.

If you are still not sure about how to go about this, you can find some of my top tips regarding playing on your mobile phone or tablet. Some of the advice is specific to playing casino games, but there is also some general advice too.

It may be tempting to allow the app to remember your log in details, to enable quick and easy access to games. Yet bear in mind that if your mobile phone or tablet is lost or stolen, this also allows easy access to anyone else who gets hold of your device.

Thanks to payment verification, a withdrawal to a different bank account cannot be requested, but at the same time, any available balance you have in your player account can be used by someone else.

You will often find in a casino's terms and conditions that you are responsible for protecting your password, and you will therefore not be covered if another person plays with your account due to you saving your password. Some apps allow you to set up a four-digit pin code to make speed things up though.

When you play games on your mobile, you should try to ensure you have a stable internet connection. If you have a poor connection, it is very likely you will get disconnected during games.

Of course, operators have taken this factor into consideration, and if you do happen to get cut off whilst a game is in play, then the game will continue when you log back in. The bigger consideration here is the frustration and annoyance you are likely to experience if your games are getting regularly cut off, and you spend more time logging in and reloading games than you do playing.

Generally speaking, when you play casino games on your mobile, the amount of data used is minimal. The exception is when you play live games. Due to the streaming of HD video, your data consumption can dramatically increase.

The issue here is that if you exceed the data allowance on your mobile package, then you may find that your speed is greatly reduced. You'll notice the effect this has instantly, as games are likely to buffer and the quality will be greatly reduced. Alternatively, you may continue to get a decent quality, but you will run up a huge bill from your provider in the process.
