Online Live Roulette is played on the rotating wheel that contains 37 or 38 pockets over the edge. While the wheel is revolving, the dealer spins a ball on the outer rim that surrounds the wheel, waiting for it to land inside one of the pockets. Each pocket has a different number from 0 (in American roulette there is also 00) to 36 and is colored either in red, black or green (only zeros are green). Note that the numbers on the pockets are not lined up in succession, so instead of 0-1-2-3, they go 0-32-15-19 and so on (on a single-zero wheel). Besides the wheel, the inevitable part of roulette is the layout, a part of the table with a diagram that shows the betting area and is used to place bets. After the ball lands, the dealer calls out the winning number and the color of the pocket.

The last step of our review process is probably the most important one for every online casino player. With our freshly deposited funds we proceed to play a wide array of casino games such as online slots, online blackjack, online roulette, and online poker to try out the speed and quality of the gameplay. We'll also make other bets like sports and lottery games. With live roulette, players can place all types of bets including inside bets, five number bets, square bets, street bets, and straight bets and even split bets. The bets are placed based on the odds, range, evens, and color of the pockets. For instance, the inside bets are placed by a player on a single number while in outside bets the player places short odd bets on a large group of numbers or color of pockets.

One thing standing in the way of making this Roulette strategy a success is the fact that all tables feature maximum bet limits. Remember the coin flip? Even if we are fairly certain 100 flips with a result in (roughly) 50:50 ratio, it's very possible to see long streaks of heads before tails land, and the other way around. Take that to a blackjack table. When on a longish losing streak, one could hit the table limit before scoring a win which is supposed to compensate for all previous losses. Let's say you were betting €20 per round at a €500 table.

The system is based on the assumption that the win-loss outcomes are evenly distributed over a longer series of bets. For example, if you should flip a coin 100 times, you wouldn't be wrong to expect that it would land 50 times on heads and 50 on tails. (Do note, though, that it wouldn't be reasonable to believe heads and tails would be evenly distributed over those 100 flipping sessions). You see what this means? Suddenly a game of chance, where one can't predict the outcome, in a way becomes predictable. There's a possibility to beat the house after all!
