RTP is a Return To Player indicating the percentage of all betted money a lot of machines will pay back to gamblers. For example, if you deposit hundreds of $1 on a slot machine where the RTP is 90%, you may get $90 as winnings. Also, players must know that house advantage is exactly the opposite of RTP. If a slot machine says it has a house advantage of 30%, it means the average RTP is 70%.

More or less, every website will state the value of Return to Player, and it is almost the same in all. It is always better to opt for the maximum RTP slot machines. The RTP is calculated using Total money returned to players / total amount wagered by them. Checking the RTP is important as it will give you an idea of how much amount you will get in return. While playing casino slot machines, ensure to check RTP with volatility and frequency.
