The internet has made it possible for people to wager real money via virtual screens, experiencing all the lights and sound of a real casino without needing to leave the house.

Conversely, thanks to Spin Games’ smartphone-friendly titles, you can leave the house and play wherever you like – but once again are spared from having to suit up and venture into a bricks and mortar casino.

Gaming has never been easier or, thanks to the immersive story-driven titles available from devs such as Spin, more alluring. Software developers are an ambitious bunch; it’s essential in order to survive in what is a highly competitive sector.

Spin Games are no different. Through a combination of innovation and excellence, the company has vowed to become a market leader that delivers disruptive solutions for the global gaming sector. One thing they certainly aren’t short of is ambition.

Spin Games create products for both land-based and online markets, with a focus on games, platform technology, on-property mobile and gaming entertainment.

The company has a wealth of experience within these areas, coupled with an impressive intellectual property portfolio. This property includes The ROC Robust Online Client (RGS) and MIG (Multiplayer Interactive Gaming) among other cherished brands and gaming concepts. Spin products are designed to work ‘out the box’, be it a turnkey package for established or new online casino sites, or a high performance game.

At the heart of Spin’s gaming endeavours is the ROC. The firm’s Robust Online Client is supposedly the future of online gaming, and it’s got some impressive credentials to back up these bold claims. Essentially, the ROC is a remote gaming server and for-wager game content delivery system.

The ROC development console is a state of the art piece of kit that supports HTML5 game engines. This is a trend that is becoming increasingly prevalent in the gaming industry as software houses move away from Flash-based multimedia.

The proprietary remote gaming server promises a plug and play dynamic and the ability to host customised content, tournaments and peer to peer product systems.

With seamless integration into third-party APIs, the ROC is compatible with online casino operators’ backend systems. This ensures that players can move seamlessly from Spin Games slots to those from other developers, such as Gameplay Interactive slots, or Betixon slots, for example. Extensive logging, reporting and security functionality, support for multiple game engines and modular architecture are just some of the features that make the ROC one of the best gaming platforms on the market.

The ROC isn't the only proprietary tool Spin have to shout about. MIG (Multi-Player Interactive Gaming) is a powerful piece of software that allows plays to engage in community-based games on their mobiles, either for the purposes of wagering, tournaments or social gaming.

Thanks to MIG, players can share a main display and join in the same game, be it Spin's MIG-compatible Texas Hold 'Em Poker, All Star Black Jack or Double Dragon Baccarat. MIG means, for example, that a group of mates can simulate playing poker at the same table in a casino, only instead of chips and felt the action is unfolding with pixels and handheld devices.

There's the main screen in the room – it could be a television, monitor or PC screen – that serves as the communal poker table, and then there's each player's mobile, where they can view their cards before deciding which ones to keep or cast onto the communal table. MIG makes all this possible.

Best of all, the technology's lightweight design makes it ideal for playing on mobile devices, resulting in a gaming experience that is about as lifelike as is realistically possible when playing on a small screen, or indeed any size of screen for that matter.

The final nifty bit of tech Spin possess is a pair of special feature sets that surface in their casino games. The first of these is called Gambler's Multiplier which kicks in any time a win of 10 or more credits has occurred in a game and is activated at the choice of the player.

The feature, which involves a classic high-low gamble involving a deck of 52 playing cards, gives players the opportunity to increase their winnings or stick with what they've got and resume the main game.

Wheel Power is another bonus multiplier whose concept involves two wheels, with multipliers spinning on the first reel and awards on the second. It's another way for players to chance their luck in an attempt to increase their winnings.

Spin's games can be divided into four categories: slots, video poker royale, action bingo and keno. The slots are characterised by warm colours - lots of reds, golds and purples - and themes that hark back to heroes, seductresses and explorers from the golden age of global discovery. Liberty, American Gold Rush and Triple Bombshell all accord to this formula.

Many of their slots feature a 3 x 5 layout with mystery column wild symbols, free spins and a feature game multiplier. Other noteworthy Spin Games titles include Shadows of Olympus which is an online slot themed around Ancient Greek mythology, Wild Gypsy and Fire Dragon. When it comes to video poker, players can choose from such variants as Double Regal Poker, Deuces Wild and Jacks or Better. Action bingo comprises four titles: Empire Action, Fire Ball Action, Mega Ball Action and Deluxe Action. Lest that wasn't enough action to be had, there's Ancient Thunder Keno, which is based on a standard Keno game with a range of multipliers and bonuses thrown in, and Jungle Spot Keno which boasts a 20 number draw and multiplied bonus games.

But wait, there's more: Spin Games also offer Last Blast Keno, Tropical Vacation Keno, Prairie Thunder Keno and Luck of The Bonus Keno.

Spin play casino

Spin Games' slots and other casino games are slick, colourful and fun to play, even if they're not the most unorthodox of titles. Aesthetically, Spin are breaking no new ground, but behind the scenes the firm are working wonders thanks to their proprietary technologies that make mobile and multi-player gaming a rich and enjoyable experience that's unlike anything else currently on the market.

The depth of field and speed of Spin's mobile gaming, aided by its commitment to HTML5 and powered by proprietary technologies such as the ROC and MIG, have earmarked the gaming titans as one to watch. Under their stewardship, the future of online gaming is looking very bright indeed.

Spin & Win is a rather silly name for a video slot, wouldn't you agree? After all, 'spin and win' is rather misleading, suggesting that every spin of the reels will be accompanied by a pay-out. That's not the case, of course – if it was, the game would very quickly become a global sensation, bankrupting Play'n GO in the process.

Still, the fruit-themed 5-reeler is no trifling casino game. On the contrary, it's connected to the developer's progressive jackpot network, offering players the prospect of winning life-changing sums of money. The high-quality slot has 5 reels, 5 lines and a theoretical return-to-player percentage of 97.02%.

The instant-play Spin & Win slot comes with a wide betting range; players are free to choose to play with coins ranging in value from 0.01 to 10. Playing on all 5 lines, therefore, means a bet-per-spin of 50 credits. Of course, the gamer does not have to put all 5 lines in play; they can play on a single line if they prefer, chopping and changing as they go depending on their fortunes.

As ever, you'll find the controls at the bottom of the screen. There is a big shiny Spin button, as well as tabs for Total Bet, Bet Level and Balance. View the pay-table by clicking into it, or set the maximum bet by selecting Bet Max. There's also an Autoplay function.

Spin & Win isn't the most visually appealing slot you've ever seen, but nor is it a design disaster. The 5x3 reel grid is bordered by gold and appears against a TV studio backdrop, complete with klieg lights and a Spin & Win wheel of fortune. The title appears above the reels in purple writing, and the reel columns themselves are a lighter shade of purple.

As for the symbols, they will be more than a little familiar: there are strawberries, pineapples, bells, gold bars, triple 7s and lemons. There's also a blonde lady, who appears in front of the aforementioned money wheel; the multicoloured wheel itself; and a Spin & Win logo. The graphics are decent enough without being outstanding.

One thing you'll want to keep note of is the figures in the top-right hand corner. There are three tabs, for the Tasty Jackpot, the Luxury Jackpot and the Dream Chance Jackpot. These are the progressive prizes you will surely be hoping to win.

The aim, as ever, is to find matching combinations of three, four or five icons on an active line. Symbols must appear left to right, starting from the leftmost reel.

Casino spin play

As well as the prospect of winning cash prizes, there's also a bonus mini-game to be enjoyed. This is triggered when you land three or more of the female TV host icons anywhere on the reels. The symbols will then morph into gifts, which hover in front of the screen; your task will be to select one, thereby revealing an accompanying prize. If you hesitate for too long, the box will be chosen for you.

The Spin & Win bonus wheel feature is set off by landing three or more bonus wheel scatter icons. A coloured wheel with six segments appears on screen, after which you'll be required to spin it. This feature gives you the chance to win prizes depending on where the arrow lands. The colour on which you land will be scored with an X, and the round terminates if the arrow lands on the X following a second spin.

Spin casino play

Let's get down to business: how do you win the progressive jackpots? Well, you'll need to land three, four or five scatters encircled by gold rings. Three rings buys you a spin on the bronze wheel, linked with the Tasty Jackpot. You could also win a regular cash prize or progress to the silver wheel.

Four rings, meanwhile, lets you play the silver wheel, for a chance to win Tasty and Luxury Jackpots or a lesser cash award. You could also progress on to the gold wheel.

Casino play spin

Five rings and you'll be granted a spin on the hallowed gold wheel. You could win the Luxury and Dream Chance Jackpots, or a lesser cash prize.

Spin & Win won't win any awards for its design, but it is nonetheless an enjoyable slot featuring nice bonus features, three progressive jackpots and a gamble mode. Give it a go and see how you fare.
