In an article published on Mashable, it was alleged that "For TikTok users, their content is worth money. And the company's revenue model relies heavily on selling ads to companies and brands that want to reach the people who are consuming all that video content." It continued by saying that "In other words, TikTok relies on its users for their data in order to sell ads. But there's a huge flaw with this strategy: The app's algorithm has been shown to discriminate against certain communities of users and thus encourage less diverse engagement. In 2021, a class-action lawsuit alleged that TikTok discriminates against users based on ethnicity." This article was published on Mashable.",

In June 2021, TikTok launched an AI-enabled feature to understand the actions of individual users and determine what to share in real time, reducing the amount of social spam on their platform. This is similar to the implementation on Chatroulette and Yik Yak leading up to 2021. The AI system is a collaborative approach between the company and Technicolor AI Lab. The system can use facial recognition technology and timestamps to determine what a user has done recently so that based on that it can then share more relevant videos with other users within the page who also have not done anything recent enough for the AI to detect them. According to the company, this new AI system is capable of reducing the number of social spam videos being shared by 70%.",
