Premium game mechanics can also be implemented in free games. However, due to the fact that all premium features are only available in Builder's Club, in most cases they will if there is no way for the developer to observe this from a third-party mod or script perspective, then it can only be done via a Builders Club Premium.[54]

On January 2nd, 2019, Studio 2.0 was released to the public.[92] On January 7th 2019, ROBLOX announced that they would be releasing a more complex version of this feature in the near future. On January 16th 2019, ROBLOX released "Studio 2.1" which contained many minor fixes and new improvements.[93] On January 20th 2019, ROBLOX announced a new script where users can use to test their games if they have any performance issues. They also stated that there has been complaints about laggy games on their website that causes players to lose interest in playing them.[94]

On May 9th, 2015 ROBLOX changed their logo again which became more square and flat then their old one. Their previous version was rounded more than their current version. On November 5th, 2016, ROBLOX released yet another logo which is now a modified version of the 2010 logo. The new logo has a more pixelated layout and a different shade of blue.

On December 15th, 2018, ROBLOX announced the end of the open beta for their new trading system. The company removed the ability to trade in-game currency among users and limited users' ability to purchase system currency from outside sources while adding even more security features by requiring cards or other forms of identification before buying virtual currency. The reason for the change was to prevent users from spending too much virtual currency on outside purchases of no value to the user. The system was a success, reducing the rate of fraud.[25]

In 2006, David Baszucki, an MIT graduate and former robotics engineer, teamed up with co-founder Erik Cassel to create a game for the iPhone. After using the iPhone prototype to showcase the technology at Apple's Worldwide Developers Conference in 2008, they partnered with Roblox Corporation to develop a new platform for their ideas. In April 2009 they founded Roblox Corporation to create games and developer tools on Roblox. Both were inspired by Lego and video games.
