On September 22nd, 2012, a head developer from the website Games Done Quick sent a cease and desist letter to Roblox because they were using code that he had created without permission. This is one of the few situations where ROBLOX has deleted all of its assets to avoid legal issues.

As well, if you are interested in getting free robux without having to spend real money, then this is a really cool option that should be used by all of the players. It will work perfectly without any problems after some time has passed by and that will allow you to have enough free robux so you can buy cool items or invest in some cool weapons.

One example of a troll game, created in 2005, was "UpperCut". This involved players being knocked into the air when they attempted to create their character. However, when the player hits the ground, they were shown a message saying that the creator of this game had disabled their inventory and that they had been defeated.
